International Scientific Conference

“Contemporary tendencies in education of future lawyers”

October 30-31, 2015.

hotel “Mujen-Lux”, Kopaonik, Republic of Serbia

Regard the fact that the public can often hear the statement that young lawyers have shown weakness in symbiosis of acquired theory and practice after completed academic studies, and that the basic objection to the educational process is reflected in the fact that students learn much theory and little practice, therefore they do not have opportunity to experience the so called Legal life. Also its important to specify that the Republic of Serbia, like other countries in the region, took obligation to harmonize its legislation with EU law, what represent permanent commitment and complex interaction of civil society, state and EU institutions. However, this is very complex process so we have numerous deficiencies in practice that affect the quality adopted legislation and implementation, accompanied by frequent amendments and changes in law. It can be concluded there is need for a scientific and expert discussion about education of future lawyers who will be the future skeleton of our legal system.

In this regard, International University of Novi Pazar, Department of Law, is organizing International Scientific Conference on the topic Contemporary tendencies in education of future lawyers.
